To the class of 2021...

Congratulations!!

To the graduating class of 2021! The last four years have been a wonderful journey that we have traveled together; a journey filled with awe-inspiring experiences. I honor you for what you have accomplished thus far! Remember, graduating from high school is only the beginning of your journey. BELIEVE in your self and keep your DREAMS in the realm of what is possible.

I challenge you to make choice in life that reveal the GREAT human being that you are; an amazing human being filled with brillance that is beyond imagine. Find your brillance and let it shine so that others can see it! Never forget, that "Once and East Sider, always an East Sider".

VICE PRINCIPALS

Ms. Murray, Margaret

Few people can say that they graduated high school during a global pandemic. You have proven that you have a drive and a spirit that can overcome the greatest of challenges. While we all desperately want to move forward and leave behind this time of suffering and sadness, we can choose to move forward with life-lessons learned. We have learned to unmute and speak! Remember, you have a voice, and change is made when you choose to exercise your voice. We have learned, maybe more than ever, to value family and friends. Remember to always surround yourself, your family, and your friends with love and kindness. We have also learned to value mental and physical health. Remember to find balance in your life with wellness and mindfulness. Read books! Listen to music. Take walks outside. Take time to find joy for yourself, and share joy with others. When you can, choose joy.

I celebrate you and all you have accomplished at East Side High School. Remember that you have battled to persevere, and that you are powerful and creative and resilient. So, go forth and do great things!

Congratulations to the Class of 2021!

Dear Class of 2021, Congratulations you made it!

You raised above the challenges of these last eighteen months, living through a devastating pandemic, loss of innocent black lives wrongly taken, and even a disruption to our Capitol, soiling our Democracy. At one point or another you might have felt overwhelmed, depressed, and perhaps even isolated, with all the restrictions inflicted upon you. You missed proms, school dances, field trips, cafeteria lunches with your friends...But although East Side's classrooms and hallways were eerie with their emptiness, our committed East Side faculty and you, the class of 2021, reclaimed and sustained your energy. The East Side spirit was palpable in our virtual Webex classrooms, assemblies, College Fairs, internships and club meetings during remote learning. Your determination made it possible for you to still share experiences and build relationships. From one day to the next, you needed to do things differently and you adapted and succeeded, leading you to this point: high school graduation, and the next chapter of your life.

As you pursue the next phase, remember how you overcame this and if you find yourselves in a difficult situation and think about quitting, never give up. Keep pushing forward. Know that you are unique and have a great potential within you. As a former East Sider, Class of 1991, I hope these four years here served to empower you to be critical thinkers and will enable you to make wise decisions in the future. Don't be afraid to take risks, as it can open many opportunities that can lead you to success. Devote some time each day to do something you love and don't forget to have fun.

Once an East Sider always an East Sider. Best of luck!.

Mrs. Queiruga-Pessoa, Maria

Mr. Ramirez, Carlos

The world as we knew it changed with the onset of COVID-19. It prevented senior events and memories that would have been had. But remember this is only the beginning of the making of new memories. Always strive to be the best in whatever you do. Be humble and let your actions speak for you. Never back down from the challenges of life. Never give up chasing your dreams.

To The Class of 2021, You Did It!!!!!!!

If ever there was a time that completely changed the course of your life, 2021 was definitely it. For the coming months before you begin the next journey, CLOSE YOUR CHROMEBOOKS! Disconnect and take some time to enjoy this moment, a milestone like this is one to cherish. You have plenty of time to start friending your former teachers on social media. Know that we are very proud of you and anywhere you go you will always be a Red Raider For Life!! We expect to see you very soon in these halls to show future East Siders what greatness looks like.

Mr. Rodriguez, Carlos

Mr. Tavares, Anthony

A big shout out to the Class of 2021. It has been said that when something bad happens, you can either let it define you, let it destroy you, or let it strengthen you. You have successfully navigated through this an entire year of a pandemic, looked out for your families, neighbors and classmates and for this, you will be better for it. For 4 years, we have had the pleasure of watching you grow into these amazing young adults. We hope your dreams take you to the highest of your hopes, to countless opportunities, and to the most special places your heart has ever known. My heartfelt Congratulations to the Class of 2021. We are so proud of all of your accomplishments and salute and appreciate all of you.

Dear Class of 2021, It comes with great pride and honor to congratulate you on your graduation. I wish you a bright and successful future.

All the Best!

Mr. West, Michael

Made with Love. Many students put their artistic and sewing skills to use making their own masks. The masks provided a way to express personal style, and students wanted a variety for different outfits and occasions. The masks were not always for themselves, however, as some decided to donate or sell them to others. Photo credit: Newscom

> "Masks have added to students' opportunity to express themselves. Whether it's a favorite sports team, school spirit, favorite animal, or other personalized information, they have really turned an annoyance into something positive for the staff and students!"

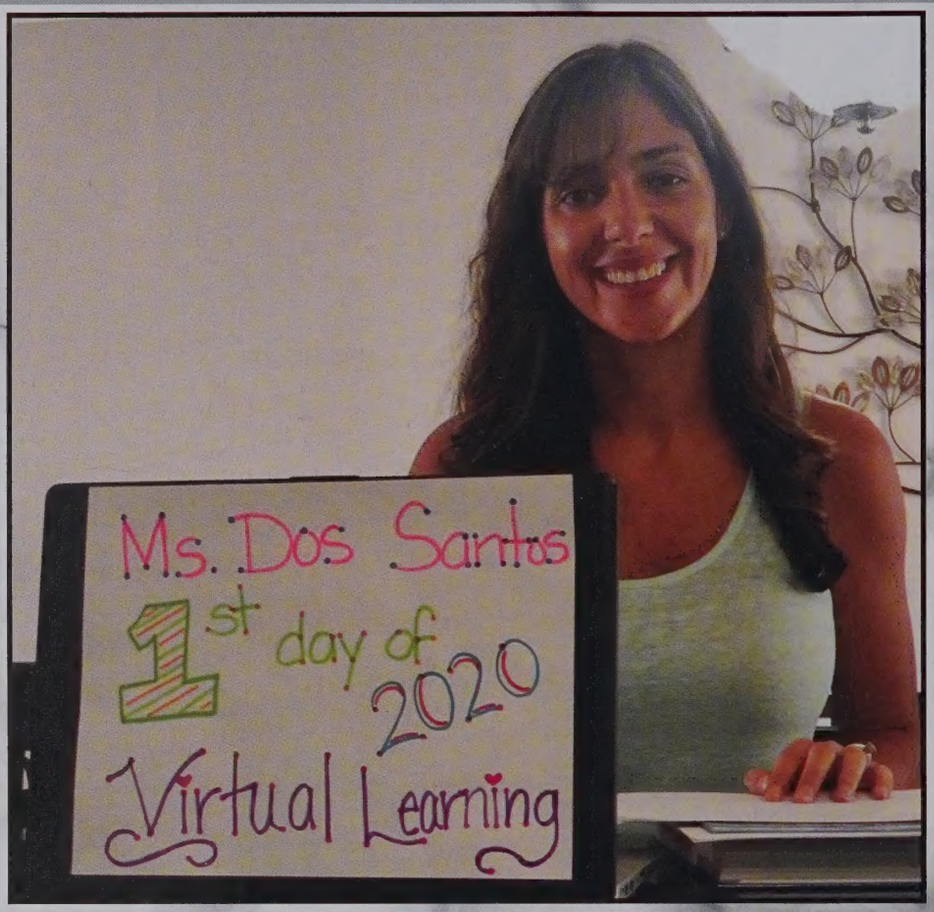
See it in 3D. 3D printers play a big role in the world of masks. These printers made everything from flexible face masks to face shields to mask accessories, including mask clips and band extenders. Many schools that had a 3D printer made masks and accessories they donated to medical personnel or others in need as a class project. Photo credits: Newscom

Masquerade. High-end designers join the mask movement, with masks being seen everywhere from Europe's fashion runways to Japan's luxury shops. Mask.com, a store at the underground Yaesu Shopping Mall in Tokyo, Japan, sold masks for up to 100,000 yen, or roughly $950. Celebrities and designers helped masks become the must-have accessory of the year. Photo credits: Newscom

TEACHER OF THE YEAR



Message to the seniors:

Congratulations Class of 2021! This has been an unconventional school year, but you persevered! I know this pandemic and quarantine were extra stressful but you proved to be resilient and I am so proud of each and every one of you! It has been my absolute pleasure to watch you grow throughout the last four years and get to know you as individuals. You are the reason I do what I do. You inspire me every day to be the best teacher I can be because I truly believe that's what you all deserve. I wish you all much success in your future endeavors. May you all go on to pursue your goals and may all your dreams become reality. I know I speak for all your teachers when I say we'll always be here for you. Remember, "Once an East Sider, always an East Sider"!
Love Always, Ms. Dos Santos

To our Class of 2021,

Watching you all grow from bright-eyed freshmen to confident young adults about to begin the next step in your lives has been an amazing experience for all of us. As each of you joined Big Picture/Internship Academy, it was crucial that you knew how different this experience would be from anything you had done before.

As you invested yourselves in the program, we invested in you. We were there to watch your successes and share in your excitement when you completed a final exhibition, dominated a classroom debate, put on a lab coat and goggles to make magic happen, or played out a perfect mock trial. We were there when you got your first interview, earned your first internship, and received your college acceptance letters. We couldn't have been more proud of you in any one of those moments.

When we went virtual, we felt that connection at school turned into Webex after Webex; you still met us in the middle. We were never just your teachers. We were your family. You can't get rid of us that easily. You leave us with a set of skills no other class before you fielded, and I know you are all meant for greatness!!!!

Remember this is not goodbye, just see you later....

SEPTEMBER

Burning Up. Deadly wildfires sweep through the west coast, destroying homes and businesses, claiming lives and sending smoke as far inland as Michigan. The fires in California, Oregon and Washington claimed at least 35 lives and burned more than four million acres. Due to the poor air quality, the Environmental Protection Agency recommended people use N95 respirators to protect themselves, which were already in short supply due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Photo credits: Newscom

THE NOTORIOUS RBG

The nation mourns Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg's death on Sept. 18 at the age of 87 from complications due to metastatic pancreatic cancer. Over the course of her prolific legal career, Ginsburg argued many landmark cases relating to gender discrimination and was nominated to the Supreme Court in 1993. Known for her dissenting opinions and the collars she wore with her robes – especially her dissent collar – Ginsburg gained pop-culture fame and was often referred to as "RBG." She was the first woman to lie in state at the U.S. Capitol, and her death raised heated debate over when a new justice should be confirmed with the election so near. Photo credits: Newscom and Yale Law Library

College Admissions Advice
The East Side Scoop Newspaper

Where current Seniors in the midst of applying to colleges provide tips that they wish they could tell their younger selves. Here are 6 tips that current Seniors Camila Carrillo, Diego Santos, and Cristian Ferreira wish they could tell themselves in the past.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE

We all procrastinate, it's normal. When it comes to me I do it all the time. Some things are more important than others, obviously, but if I had a chance to talk to my younger self, something I would tell them is to not procrastinate. The main reason is because it just gives you more disadvantages - and there are a lot of things to do to prepare for applying to schools - getting recommendations, working on financial aid, and filling out applications... it is important to not let it all pile up at once!

One thing that you should get started with as soon as you get into high school is to...

Do a lot of extracurricular activities (get involved in the school community!)

The more extra curricular activities the better! If you have just have good grades or a cool story colleges are going to look right past you, you need something to differentiate you from the other million applicants. If they see you are the kind of student that takes part in the community and cares about the rest of the student body they'll see you're the kind of student that can benefit their school and will want to you to attend their school. This is especially true if you're in a leadership position. That's the big one, which leads us to tip 3...

Take on leadership positions!

If college admissions see you're in a leadership position it will show you are capable of taking on responsibility and are a respected member of your community. This will make colleges more inclined to accept you instead of little Timmy who didn't do anything other than get barely passing grades his whole academic career. Positions such as team captain, or head of the book club, or editor of the school newspaper ;), or executive member of the student council, student body president... you get the point. These will help you to stand out, so get involved!

When it comes down to the actual application process a few tips are to...

Watch for deadlines/early action and early decision

Early admissions are exactly what it sounds like: the earlier you apply, the earlier you receive your results. This comes in two forms, which are early decision and early action. Early decision applications are binding, which means you have to attend that college and you cannot apply to other colleges. Early action applications are non-binding, which means you can still receive your results early and you can still apply to other colleges. This distinction is important to keep in mind!

Take advantage of same day admissions

Some universities, like NJCU, offer same day admissions. Sometimes it can be a short interview with someone from the school. If you do well in the interview, you have a good chance at being admitted into that college. While not all universities do this, it's good to take advantage of these admission events so that you can have a back up college to go to.

All in all, this leads us to our last, and most important tip...

Try not to stress out!

As a high school student, everyone is stressed out. But no one talks about the major stress college applications can cause. From applying to colleges, to applying to scholarships, and FAFSA. There are many ways to alleviate the stress, stressing just makes things worse. So try to slow down, and take things day by day, and listen to these 6 tips!

GOOD LUCK TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 2021!

At the East Side robotics team students normally learn programming, engineering and design skills to use in competition across the country and in their futures. In these unprecedented times East Side robotics had to adapt to meet today's challenges. Members used at home robotics kits purchased with a grant from Comcast NBC Universal to design and program their own robots at home. Students competed against fellow team members in an inhouse robotics competition. The next step for members was to compete in an international competition to design a new robotics game to be used in competition for 2021-22 school year.

The Coding Club allows students who have an interest in learning more about how computers work and how we can use them to solve many problems that are too labor intensive for humans to complete. Students learn basic coding techniques in the 1st half of the year and then are taught Python, an industry-standard programming language, in the 2nd half of the year. Previous coding experience is not required.

Dear Ambassador,

Jani Silva has been standing alongside the campesino farmers in the Putumayo region for decades. She has dedicated her life to defending the environment and natural resources.

However, Jani's work has put her in danger. She has been followed, intimidated by unknown people with guns and threatened with death.

As protectors of resources that the world depends on for its survival, Jani and the campesino farmers she stands with should be defended.

I call on you to protect Jani and all members of ADISPA, an organization she founded along with her colleagues to preserve the peasant Amazon Pearl Reserve Zone. In doing so, you will be safeguarding not just them, but a whole ecosystem powering the planet.

Yours sincerely,

an election to remember

After unprecedented voter turnout and several days of delay in too-close-to-call swing states, Joe Biden and Kamala Harris are named the country's next president and vice president on Nov. 7. Though President Trump had not conceded, Pennsylvania was called for Biden the morning of Saturday, Nov. 7, which gave Biden the Electoral College votes he needed to secure the presidency. Vice President-elect Kamala Harris, making history as the first woman, first person of South Asian heritage and first Black vice president elected to office, inspired several viral videos of incredulous little girls saying, "She looks like me!" Photo credits: Newscom

The East Side Scoop

Written By Nagely Castro

The Ironbound is a pretty busy area where there is no lack of stores, restaurants, or anything really. The pandemic has hit us all very differently, schools for example are now online and have found a new temporary normalcy. The difference between schools and businesses though is very prominent. Schools can thrive since students are required to attend online classes and everything is still functioning just in a different way. This can also be true for certain businesses but based on my conversations with a handful of them it seems the transition has not gone so smoothly and that things are still very uncertain and difficult for them to thrive in a time like this.

Innovations LLC - A Gift Shop

(Interview was in spanish, quotes are a translation of what was said)

This is a business that has been around since 2001. The owner tells me that he opened up his store to essentially "be his own boss". He shared that in his country he was a waiter and didn't have much so when he came over to the United States he saw the opportunity and took it. The business in this Ironbound area was good, people constantly stopped by and he wasn't struggling to keep the store open. This certainly has changed recently, "people don't come by anymore, I have $5 dollars in the cash register right now" he told me and that really put things into perspective. He continued explaining how one of the hardest things was simply keeping the store open and the lights on.

"I have missed 3 months of rent and have only been able to make up one of those three months".

He even said that he has been considering closing his store for good or at least until things actually go back to normal. He explained how some of the bills are just a waste at this date. As an example he mentioned the electricity bill, nobody stops by so it feels like wasted money.

I asked if there had been any time during the pandemic where things started to look up or if it was just all difficult. He said that after he opened back up in July things did start to get better and business was thriving but as time went on its gradually went back down, "especially now that cases went back up". He also mentioned how he received no help from anyone that was supposedly going to help the small businesses, "I applied three times and have gotten no response".

I wasn't completely surprised by the things he told me. Since the kind of store he owns is more of an in-person thing rather than online since most people might just stick with Amazon for online shopping. My conversation with him just reminded me how important it is to support local businesses, so I will definitely keep this conversation in mind the next time I order something online and check to see if there is a way I can get that locally while still following the safety guidelines.

Finally, Some Good News. Two companies make big announcements about their COVID-19 vaccines. Clinical trials showed the vaccine created by Moderna to be 94.5% effective and the Pfizer vaccine to be 95% effective. Both companies expected the Food and Drug Administration to grant their vaccines emergency approval before the end of the year. Photo credit: Newscom

It's All About the Selfie

Selfies remain extremely popular. But what's the key to a good selfie? Try these tips:

- Natural light is best – just after sunrise or just before sunset.
- Keep your arm out of the shot – try downloading a free self-timer app.
- Use your good side – position the camera slightly above your eye line.

Apps Are Where It's At

If you are on a mobile device, you are probably using an app. The trend toward using apps and away from surfing the mobile web continued. Total time spent on phones also rose.

One Year, Many Changes
The East Side Scoop Newspaper
By Daniel Perez

This year has been chaos. Our world is experiencing many tragedies and changes that affected our lives. During this year, people have died not only because of COVID-19 but also because of us. Many people died for being different when we know that being different is one of the qualities of being human. But is there a problem with being different? The intolerance of this world is the real problem and is one of the reasons for a rise in people fighting for rights and inclusion.

However, this chaos has brought positive changes in our society after all. After four months of social distancing here in Newark, I could see how people started to take care of their health wearing masks, washing their hands more often, wearing gloves, and avoiding physical contact. These patterns of self care can result in some positive health changes in the future, if we can keep it up. We could not only avoid being infected by this virus but also by others that could develop over time. Due to these changes in our hygiene, we could live a longer and healthier life I am trying to find the silver lining in this very difficult year, so I will reach at any chance I get.

Besides that, as social distancing was applied, our world experienced a phase of renewal. The contamination decreased, making the environment a better place for animals, other living beings, or even for us if we could stop contaminating the planet. But I think these changes would not last unless people learn how a minimum action can improve how the world works. For example, a minimum action could be as simple as stop throwing garbage into the ocean, onto the street, or recycling instead of throwing it into the landfill.

Another element of life renewed would be the relationships. They have changed around the world for better. Now there are more people getting to know each other better virtually before making bad decisions in person. For example, many relationships are usually short-lived because the two people do not take the time to get to know each other before starting a relationship, spending money, and putting other responsibilities aside.

Also, the Black Lives Matter, feminist movements, and LGBTQ+ protests have brought good things. Although this pandemic has separated people from their families, friends, and social life, it did not stop people from fighting for justice. And one thing that is important to highlight about this is the fact that all kinds of people had joined forces to be a voice for those who have been victims of hate, racism, or any type of discrimination.

But the actions the government has been taking, such as arresting the police officers involved in George Floyd's death, are not enough for the protesters and activists. Although these recent social movements that began with "Black Lives Matter" impacted many people around the world, the intolerance is still around us. But why? Is it that difficult to change people's minds? Sadly, the answer is yes. People are still being discriminated against not only because of their race but also because of their sexual orientation, religion, gender, or ethnicity.

During these unstable times, although most people in this country and even around the world have been protesting for equal rights, people have struggled to get economic aid. And of course, it is difficult when you are not the priority. For example, many people were dropped from financial aid programs for being undocumented immigrants. Most of them lost their jobs after quarantine, and others had to continue working even if they risked their health because their work was their only source of income with which they supported their family economically.

As an immigrant, it is hard for me to accept that so many people are treated differently just because of their social status, even in Newark where most of the people I know are immigrants. Certainly, the intolerance has not disappeared even in times of crisis. But it did not stop the immigrant communities to help each other as a family during these circumstances. For example, my school has helped many families by giving them food twice a week.

As time went by, the world adapted itself to this new age of changes. This situation should be an opportunity to make people realize how every individual's life matters regardless of differences. However, it looks like the opposite thing has happened. This pandemic has affected all of us, even being healthy during a pandemic did save some. And all this violence, hate, and controversies seen this year are proof of how people reject each other for being different.

Maybe this world is full of different people with different points of view, but that is not a reason for not including them fairly in society. We cannot agree with all the people, but we can respect them. Each person has gone through different circumstances and experiences that have built their unique way of being.

VALEDICTORIAN

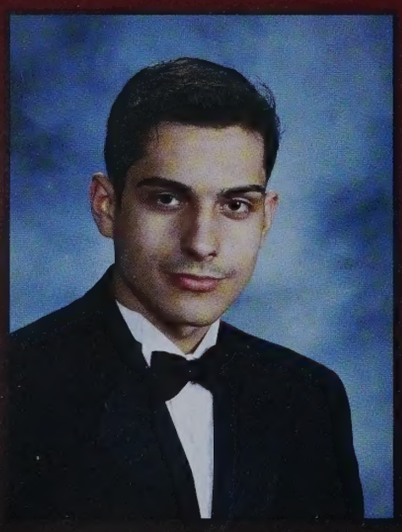
Christian Gomes

It is with great pride and honor that I congratulate the class of 2021! Wow! We finally made it! I am so proud of everyone. These past four years flew by so fast! (especially with this pandemic that took away over a year and a half of our time, but thats beside the point). It feels as if it was just yesterday that we were young freshmen struggling to find our classes in this complicated maze of a school. And just as we finally become adjusted to this high school thing, BOOM! Covid-19. I mean, they weren't lying when they said that high school was quite the experience!

Anyway, I know that all of us have not been in school in a long time, but that did not stop us from continuing our academic excellence beyond the walls of our typical educational environment. All of us learned to adapt to virtual learning, and we did such an excellent job showcasing just how hard we are willing to work for our goals. If anything, this pandemic ended up revealing just how resilient and capable we all are in the face of tragedy and confusion. We were the first class to start their academic year virtually. We were the first senior class to miss the typical senior events that we all know and love. But you know what? We still managed to make it out of this pandemic as high school graduates, and nothing can take away from that. Despite everything going on, we defied all the odds, which truly displays the strength of our character. We are powerful, we are determined, and most importantly, we all have the potential to accomplish great things in life. We have to embrace it. I truly believe in every single one of you, and I will cherish all of our memories together. I wish you all nothing but the best of luck, and I know that this world is not ready for the light you will shine on it. So as you embark on this journey towards a new chapter in your life, do not forget everything you have endured and do not limit your potential.

Best regards,
Your friend, Christian Gomes

SALUTATORIAN



Afonso D. Lima

It's time to graduate class of 2021, it's time to take your last look back at everything we have ever accomplished behind these old brick walls. Now is a time of farewells, but it is also the time to ponder what your future holds. This is just one milestone of many to come. In the midst of a global pandemic, each and every one of us were able to weather this storm. I can truly say with confidence this year has been wild, what a way to end the year. I mean my pj's have become the official school uniform and I enjoy taking a nice stroll to the pantry for some snacks every 2 minutes. I guess so you can say this pandemic hasn't been that bad. In all seriousness I think we have been through a lot as a class and this has taught us a core value that school could have never. This idea of perseverance shined through each and every student as no matter the situation we still managed to find a way through the day and log on. I am proud of every one of us, I know greatness is waiting for us after high school.

I wish you the best, Sincerely,
Afonso D. Lima

Well, Class of 2021, you are the first class in this lifetime to experience your entire senior year virtually. You have come through a pandemic. You have witnessed protests and demonstrations against racial injustices. You were stripped of the traditional senior activities, and you have lost many loved ones, icons, and legends. Yet somehow, you were able to make it to the point of graduation, and that deserves a round of applause. Keep climbing and let the world know that you are not a generation who was lost to a pandemic, but you are the seeds that were planted and hidden in a season of darkness. You were watered with opportunities to approach things differently, and you are harvesting a brand new way of reaching goals and fulfilling dreams. Different does not mean deficit! We hope that you take the lessons you have learned throughout this season and apply them, intertwine them into your daily routine and use them to propel you into this next phase. The life ahead of you will be full of even more challenges, obstacles, and adversities. Still, we believe you all possess the ability and resilience to continue to soar to your individual destinations where success will not only meet you but embrace you.

Congratulations, Class of 2021, "IT'S THE VIRTUAL LEARNING FOR US" too.

Ms. Bruchette, Ms. Neal, and Mr. Williams

Happy Retirement!

Mrs. Debra Naprano
"Once an East Sider, always an East Sider"

"Mrs. Nap" has been at East Side legend for decades. Her mom, "Dolly," and dad, "Fred," graduated from East Side, and her sisters have also been important contributors to East Siders's success.

In 1985, Ms. Nap started as a Math Teacher here and then segued eventually into guidance. Since then, she has shared her myriad of expertise, countless and long hours, and degrees with generations of East Side students, steering them into college and their future. As East Side Basketball's team's greatest fan, she transformed into the "Hot Dog Lady" and shared the proceeds with not only her beloved "STUCO" (Student Council) but also our legendary basketball team.

Her student council leadership included countless college tours, volunteer experiences, and two Presidential Inaugurations! She raised the bar for this organization, and it will be a hard act to follow. But, the true legacy of Mrs. Nap is the many partnerships, not only with her amazing friends and colleges in guidance or with our dedicated administrators (some of whom were her counselees) but especially her students who she has tirelessly guided into their futures.

All our best wishes and love as you sail off into your next exciting chapter. This place won't be the same without you.

"It will not be the same without you in guidance. You have taught me so much, and I am grateful for all the memorable moments we had through the years. Now you can take some time for yourself and relax." -Jason Pereira

"Ms. Nap, Hard to believe that you have been a part of my life for 29 years! Thank you for being such an instrumental part of my personal and professional life! Wishing you all the best in the next phase of your life! You will be missed" -Anthony Tavares Vice Principal

"Debbie Nap, it's been a pleasure and learning experience working with you these last 20 years. I wish you nothing but God's love and blessings on this new journey of your life. Thank you for all you have taught me!" - Jorelle Green

"Wishing you the best in your future endeavors. You will be greatly missed by the staff and students. Your humor made the years go by fast. Guidance will never be the same without you ." -Rui

"Ms. Nap, enjoy the well-deserved rest; you have done great work! Thanks for always giving me some great laughs in the short time I have known you." -Tatyana Zapata

"Dear Nap, It has been a pleasure working with you over the last 15 years. Thank you for always making me laugh and for all that you taught me. I wish you all the best in this next chapter of your life." Love, Mildred Planas

"To my "Old Lady" thank you for welcoming me to East Side and showing me and my family love, going to miss ya." . -Yari Pares
